Amalgamemnon Christine Brooke-Rose, 1984 A woman about to lose her job as a professor of literature and history delivers a passionate witty and word mad monologue in this inventive novel which was called brilliant The Listener dazzling The Guardian elegant rueful and witty The Observer upon its original publication in England in 1984 British Literature in Transition, 1980-2000 Eileen Pollard, Berthold Schoene-Harwood, 2019 This volume shows how British literature recorded contemporaneous historical change It traces the emergence and evolution of literary trends from 1980 2000

Amalgamemnon Christine Brooke-Rose, 1994 History and literature seem to be losing ground in the contemporary world of electronic media and battle lines have been drawn between the humanities and technology the first world and the third women and men Narrator Mira Enketi erases these boundaries in a punning monologue that blends the contemporary with the historical and in which she sees herself as Cassandra condemned by Apollo to prophesy but never to be believed enslaved by Agamemnon after the fall of Troy Here Brooke Rose amalgamates ancient literature and modern anxieties to produce a powerful novel about our future The Oxford Companion to English Literature Dinah Birch, 2009-09-24 Written by a team of more than 150 contributors working under the direction of Dinah Birch and ranging in influence from Homer to the Mahabharata this guide provides the reader with a comprehensive coverage of all aspects of English literature The Concise Oxford Companion to English Literature Dinah Birch, Katy Hooper, 2013-05-30 Based on the bestselling Oxford Companion to English Literature this is an indispensable compact guide to all aspects of English literature Over 5 500 new and revised A to Z entries give unrivalled coverage of writers works historical context literary theory allusions characters and plot summaries Discursive feature entries supply a wealth of information about important genres in literature For this fourth edition the dictionary has been fully revised and updated to include expanded coverage of postcolonial African black British and children s literature as well as improved representation in the areas of science fiction biography travel literature women s writing gay and lesbian writing and American literature The appendices listing literary prize winners including the Nobel Man Booker and Pulitzer prizes have all been updated and there is also a timeline chronicling the development of English literature from c 1000 to the present day Many entries feature recommended web links which are listed and regularly updated on a dedicated companion website Written originally by a team of more than 140 distinguished authors and extensively updated for this new edition this book provides an essential point of reference for English students teachers and all other readers of literature in English Abstraction in Post-War British Literature 1945-1980 Natalie Ferris, 2022-03-29 In a catalogue note for the 1965 exhibition Between Poetry and Painting at the Institute of Contemporary Arts the poet Edwin Morgan probed the relationship between abstraction and literature Abstract painting can often satisfy but abstract poetry can only exist in inverted commas Language may be fragmented rearranged or distorted abstract in so far as it is withdrawn from a particular system of knowledge but Morgan was of the mind that to be wholly disruptive was to deprive a poem of its point as an object of contemplation Whilst abstract art may have come to fulfil or or fortify an impression of post war taste abstraction in literature continued to be treated with suspicion But how does this speak to the extent to which Britain s literary culture was responsive to progress compared to its artistic culture Abstraction in Post War British Literature 1945 1980 traces a line of literary experimentation in post war British literature that was prompted by the aesthetic philosophical and theoretical demands of abstraction Spanning the period 1945 to 1980 it observes the ways in which certain aesthetic advancements initiated new forms of literary expression to posit a new genealogy of interdisciplinary practice in Britain At a time in which Britain became conscious of its evolving identity within an increasingly globalised context this study accounts for the range of Continental and Transatlantic influences in order to more accurately locate the networks at play Exploring the contributions made by individuals such as Herbert Read Ian Hamilton Finlay and Christine Brooke Rose as well as by groups of practitioners It brings a wide range of previously unexplored archival material into the public domain and offers a comprehensive account of the evolving status of abstraction across cultural institutional and literary contexts
