Always Being Reformed Second Edition Faith For A Fragmented World:

A Reformed Voice in the Ecumenical Discussion Martien Brinkman, 2016-04-26 In A Reformed Voice in the Ecumenical Discussion Martien E Brinkman offers a critical account of the main international ecumenical developments of the last three decades. He delivers a sketch of the Reformed contribution to the ecumenical dialogues dealing with issues like contextuality, state church relations, the ethical implications of baptism, the church as sacrament of the kingdom, and apostolic tradition. He pleads for a stronger non-Western input in the ecumenical discussions and emphasizes that in many contexts—Indonesia, India, China—the interreligious dialogue has become part of the inner Christian dialogue. This study can be considered as a constructive contribution to the development of a hermeneutics of tradition and puts itself the critical question: what is lost and found in translation.

Under the Oak Tree Ronald J. Allen, John S. McClure, O. Wesley Allen Jr., 2013-11-06 Two trends in the early twenty-first century intersect to give this volume immediate relevance: 1. The emerging postmodern ethos in North America is calling into question many things we have taken for granted, including the purposes of the church; and 2. our time is increasingly fractious as groups with distinct worldviews become polarized and often antagonistic. Eleven noted contributors join a growing current that sees conversation as an image to refresh our thinking about the nature and purpose of the church and as a process in which individuals and communities with different perspectives come together for real understanding. Under the Oak Tree employs the image of Sarah and Abraham greeting three visitors under the Oaks of Mamre as an image for the church as a community of conversation—a community that opens itself to the otherness of the Bible, voices in history and tradition, others in the contemporary social and ecological worlds. Furthermore, the book shows how conversation can lead the church to action. The book takes a practical approach by exploring how conversation can shape key parts of the church's life. Topics include preaching, worship, formation, evangelism, pastoral care, mission, and ecumenism, social witness, and the relationship of Christianity to other religions. Foundational chapters consider God as conversational, the church as community of conversation, and the minister as conversation leader.

The culture of toleration in diverse societies Catriona McKinnon,Dario Castiglione,2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license The idea of toleration as the appropriate response to difference has been central to liberal thought since Locke Although the subject has been widely and variously explored there has been reluctance to acknowledge the new meaning that current debates on toleration have when compared with those at its origins in the early modern period and with subsequent discussions about pluralism and freedom of expression This collection starts from a clear recognition of the new terms of the debate It recognises that a new academic consensus is slowly emerging on a view of tolerance that is reasonable in two senses Firstly of reflecting the capacity of seeing the other s viewpoint secondly on the relatively limited extent to which toleration can be granted It reflects the cross thematic and cross disciplinary nature of such discussions dissecting a number of debates such as liberalism and communitarianism public and private multiculturalism and the politics of identity and a number of disciplines moral legal and political philosophy historical and educational studies anthropology sociology and psychology A group of distinguished authors explore the complexities emerging from the new debate They scrutinise with analytical sophistication the philosophical foundation the normative content and the broadly political implications of a new culture of toleration for diverse societies Specific issues considered include the toleration of religious discrimination in employment city life and community social ethos publicity justice and reason and ethics The book is unique in resolutely looking forward to the theoretical and practical challenges posed by commitment to a conception of toleration demanding empathy and understanding in an ever diversifying world
