A Woman For President The Story Of Victoria Woodhull:

A Woman for President Kathleen Krull, 2004 Do you know the first woman to run for president The first woman to have a seat on the Stock Exchange The first woman to own a newspaper To speak before Congress They were all Victoria Woodhull this is her story In 1872 American women could not vote but they could run for president Can you name the first woman to run for president or the first woman to have a seat on the stock exchange Do you know the first woman to own a newspaper or to speak before Congress Amazingly one woman achieved each of these feats and her name has been all but erased from history Born in complete poverty the seventh of ten children Victoria Woodhull was supporting her family by the age of eight as a child preacher Seeking a better life she married divorced moved to New York City and became a millionaire by offering Cornelius Vanderbilt financial advice from the spirit world Victoria did not stop there Now that she had money and power she was ready to challenge society's harsh limitations on women Her boldest act was announcing herself as the first female candidate for the presidency of the United States She founded her own newspaper to publicize this groundbreaking campaign which took her from the chambers of Congress to the glorious moment when she was nominated by the Equal Rights Party at a convention that she a woman had organized and funded In the first book about Victoria Woodhull for young readers Kathleen Krull and Jane Dyer team up to bring one of the most fascinating personalities in U S history to life The perfect book to explore the electoral process during the upcoming presidential election One of the most revolutionary American women has been forgotten by history until now Walker Company is proud to welcome acclaimed biographer Kathleen Krull and talented illustrator Jane Dyer to our list Victoria Woodhull Kate Havelin, 2006-06-27 Chronicles the life of the first woman to run for United States president who was also one of the first women in the United States to run a stock trading business and publish a weekly newspaper Woman for President -Lib Kathleen Krull, 2006-08-01 Victoria Woodhull was the first woman to do many things the first woman to own a newspaper to speak before Congress and to have a seat on the stock exchange But her boldest act was announcing herself as the first female candidate for the presidency of the United States in 1872 before women even had the right to vote Arguably one of the most revolutionary women in American history she was many years ahead of her time breaking boundaries But her presidential campaign and the backlash it sparked left her in political ruin and bankruptcy Amazingly her name has been practically erased from history Acclaimed biographer Kathleen Krull and beloved illustrator Jane Dyer combine their talents to bring one of the most fascinating personalities in U S history back to life for young readers Victoria Woodhull's Sexual Revolution Amanda Frisken, 2012-03-06 Victoria Woodhull the first woman to run for president forced her fellow Americans to come to terms with the full meaning of equality after the Civil War A sometime collaborator with Susan B Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton yet never fully accepted into mainstream suffragist circles Woodhull was a flamboyant social reformer who promoted freedom especially freedom from societal constraints over intimate relationships This much we know from the several popular biographies of the nineteenth century activist But what we do not know as Amanda Frisken reveals is how Woodhull manipulated the emerging popular media and fluid political culture of the Reconstruction period in order to accomplish her political goals As an editor and public speaker Woodhull demanded that women and men be held to the same standards in public life Her political theatrics brought the topic of women s sexuality into the public arena shocking critics galvanizing supporters and finally locking opposing camps into bitter conflict over sexuality and women s rights in marriage A woman who surrendered her own privacy whose life was grist for the mills of a sensation mongering press she made the exposure of others secrets a powerful tool of social change Woodhull s political ambitions became inseparable from her sexual nonconformity yet her skill in using contemporary media kept her revolutionary ideas continually before her peers In this way Woodhull contributed to long term shifts in attitudes about sexuality and the slow liberation of marriage and other social institutions Using contemporary sources such as images from the sporting news Frisken takes a fresh look at the heyday of this controversial women s rights activist discovering Woodhull s previously unrecognized importance in the turbulent climate of Radical Reconstruction and making her a useful lens through which to view the shifting sexual mores of the nineteenth century

Women for President Erika Falk,2013-12-01 Newly updated to examine Hillary Clinton s formidable 2008 presidential campaign Women for President analyzes the gender bias the media has demonstrated in covering women candidates since the first woman ran for America s highest office in 1872 Tracing the campaigns of nine women who ran for president through 2008 Victoria Woodhull Belva Lockwood Margaret Chase Smith Shirley Chisholm Patricia Schroeder Lenora Fulani Elizabeth Dole Carol Moseley Braun and Hillary Clinton Erika Falk finds little progress in the fair treatment of women candidates The press portrays female candidates as unviable unnatural and incompetent and often ignores or belittles women instead of reporting their ideas and intent This thorough comparison of men s and women s campaigns reveals a worrisome trend of sexism in press coverage a trend that still persists today

s biography of Clinton s journey in faith begins with her Methodist upbringing in Park Ridge Illinois where she faithfully attended worship services Sunday school and youth group meetings Like many mainline Protestants Clinton s spiritual commitment developed gradually throughout childhood while her combination of missionary zeal and impressive personal talents has informed her career from the time of her pro bono work at Yale on behalf of children to the present Her Methodist faith has been very important to many of Clinton s high profile endeavors and in helping her cope with the prominent travails brought on by two presidential campaigns never ending conservative rancor and her husband s infidelity Smith s account examines Clinton s faith in the context of work ranging from her 1990s pursuit of healthcare reform to a Hillary doctrine of foreign policy focused on her longtime goal of providing basic human rights for children and women a project she saw as essential to United States security The result is an enlightening reconsideration of an extraordinary political figure who has defied private doubts and public controversy to live by John Wesley s dictum Do all the good you can by all the means you can in all the ways you can in all the places you can at all the times you can to all the people you can as long as ever you can
