Abandoned Women Scottish Convicts Exiled Beyond The Seas:

Abandoned Women Lucy Frost, 2012-02-01 From the crowded tenements of Edinburgh to the Female Factory nestling in the shadow of Mt Wellington dozens of Scottish women convicts were exiled to Van Diemen's Land with their young children This is a rich and evocative account of the lives of women at the bottom of society two hundred years ago Her superb research and sympathetic reconstructions of nineteenth century Scotland and Australia bring to life a long forgotten but fascinating group of women Si n Rees author of The Floating Brothel In the early nineteenth century crofters and villagers streamed into the burgeoning cities of Scotland and families splintered Orphan girls single mothers and women on their own all struggled to feed and clothe themselves For some petty theft became a part of life Any woman deemed habite repete a thief might find herself before the High Court of Justiciary tried for yet another minor theft and sentenced to transportation beyond Seas Lucy Frost memorably paints the portrait of a boatload of women and their children who arrived in Hobart in 1838 Instead of serving time in prison the women were sent to work as unpaid servants in the houses of settlers Feisty Scottish convicts unaccustomed to bowing and scraping often irritated their middle class employers who charged them with insolence or refusing to work or getting drunk A stint in the female factory became their punishment Many women survived the convict system and shaped their own lives once they were free They married had children and found a place in the community Others though continued to be plagued by errors and disasters until death Scottish Women Esther Breitenbach, 2013-06-24 Drawing on a wide range of source materials from across Scotland this sourcebook provides new insights into women's attitudes to the society in which they lived and how they negotiated their identities within private and public life A Global History of Runaways Marcus Rediker, Titas Chakraborty, Matthias van Rossum, 2019-07-30 During global capitalism's long ascent from 1600 1850 workers of all kinds slaves indentured servants convicts domestic workers soldiers and sailors repeatedly ran away from their masters and bosses with profound effects A Global History of Runaways edited by Marcus Rediker Titas Chakraborty and Matthias van Rossum compares and connects runaways in the British Danish Dutch French Mughal Portuguese and American empires Together these essays show how capitalism required vast numbers of mobile workers who would build the foundations of a new economic order At the same time these laborers challenged that order from the undermining of Danish colonization in the seventeenth century to the igniting of civil war in the United States in the nineteenth Unfree Workers Hamish Maxwell-Stewart, Michael Quinlan, 2022-01-12 This book examines how convicts played a key role in the development of capitalism in Australia and how their active resistance shaped both workplace relations and institutions It highlights the contribution of convicts to worker mobilization and political descent forcing a rethink of Australia's foundational story It is a book that will appeal to an international audience as well as the many hundreds of thousands of Australians who can trace descent from convicts It will enable the latter to make sense of the experience of their ancestors equipping them with the necessary tools to understand convict and court records It will also provide a valuable undergraduate and postgraduate teaching tool and reference for those studying unfree labour and worker history social history colonization and global migration in a digital age

The Oxford Handbook of the History of Crime and Criminal Justice Paul Knepper, Anja Johansen, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of the History of Crime and Criminal Justice provides a systematic and comprehensive examination of recent developments across criminology and criminal justice Chapters examine methodological and theoretical approaches to criminology on going debates and controversies and contemporary issues such as drug trafficking terrorism and the intersections of gender race and class in the context of crime and punishment

Jeremy Bentham and Australia Tim Causer, Margot Finn, Philip Schofield, 2022-04-28 Jeremy Bentham and Australia is a collection of scholarship inspired by Bentham's writings on Australia These writings are available for the first time in authoritative form in Panopticon versus New South Wales and other writings on Australia a volume in The Collected Works of Jeremy Bentham published by UCL Press In the present collection a distinguished group of authors reflect on Bentham's Australian writings making original contributions to existing debates and setting agendas for future ones In the first part of the collection the works are placed in their historical contexts while the second part provides a critical assessment of the historical accuracy and plausibility of Bentham's arguments against transportation from the British Isles In the third part attention turns to Bentham's claim that New South Wales had been illegally founded and to the imperial and colonial constitutional ramifications of that claim Here authors also discuss Bentham's work of 1831 in which he supports the establishment of a free colony on the southern coast of Australia In the final part authors shed light on the history of Bentham's panopticon penitentiary scheme his views on the punishment and reform of criminals and what role if any religion had to play in that regard and discuss apparently panopticon inspired institutions built in the Australian colonies This collection will appeal to readers interested in Bentham's life and thought the history of transportation from the British Isles and of British penal policy more generally colonial and imperial history Indigenous history legal and constitutional history and religious history

Ireland in the World Angela McCarthy, 2015-06-12 This international edited book collection of ten original contributions from established and emerging scholars explores aspects of Ireland's place in the world since the 1780s It imaginatively blends comparative transnational and personal perspectives to examine migration in a range of diverse geographical locations including Ireland Scotland Wales Australia New Zealand the United States Canada Argentina Jamaica and the British Empire more broadly Deploying diverse sources including letters interviews press reports convict records and social media contributors canvas important themes such as slavery convicts policing landlordism print culture loyalism nationalism sectarianism politics and electronic media A range of perspectives including Catholic and Protestant men and women convicts and settlers are included and the volume is accompanied by a range of striking images

The Antipodean Laboratory Anna Johnston, 2023-10-05 In this compelling study Anna Johnston shows how colonial knowledge from Australia influenced global thinking about convicts natural history and humanitarian concerns about Indigenous peoples

These were fascinating topics for British readers and influenced government policies in fields such as prison reform the history of science and humanitarian and religious campaigns Using a rich variety of sources including natural history and botanical illustrations voyage accounts language studies Victorian literature and convict memoirs this multi disciplinary account charts how new ways of identifying classifying analysing and controlling ideas populations and environments were forged and circulated between colonies and through metropolitan centres They were also underpinned by cultural exchanges between European and Indigenous interlocutors and knowledge systems Johnston shows how colonial ideas were disseminated through a global network of correspondence and print culture Imperial Crime and Punishment Emma D. Watkins,Eleanor Bland,2025-10-06 Seeking to redress the traditional focus of historical criminology on the West and Global North Imperial Crime and Punishment brings a fresh perspective to this burgeoning field by drawing instead on imperial contexts The Exiles Christina Baker Kline,2020-08-25 Christina s level of research into characters place and time to tell a powerful story of suffering and survival in an historical fiction is masterful Heather Morris author of The Tattooist of Auschwitz Gorgeous Kristin Hannah author of The Nightingale London 1840 Evangeline has languished in Newgate prison for months falsely accused of stealing her master s ring Now beginning the long journey to Australia on a prison ship she hopes for a new life for both her and her unborn child On board she befriends Hazel sentenced to seven years transport for theft whose own path will cross with an orphaned indigenous girl The governor of Tasmania has adopted Mathinna but the family treat her more as a curiosity than a child Amid hardships and cruelties new life will take root in stolen soil and friendships will define lives but only some will find their place on the other side of the world Master storyteller Christina Baker Kline is at her best in this epic tale of Australia s complex history a vivid and rewarding feat of both empathy and imagination I loved this book Paula McLain bestselling author of The Paris Wife A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies Clare Anderson,2018-05-17 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by the University of Leicester Between 1415 when the Portuguese first used convicts for colonization purposes in the North African enclave of Ceuta to the 1960s and the dissolution of Stalin s gulags global powers including the Spanish Dutch Portuguese British Russians Chinese and Japanese transported millions of convicts to forts penal settlements and penal colonies all over the world A Global History of Convicts and Penal Colonies builds on specific regional archives and literatures to write the first global history of penal transportation The essays explore the idea of penal transportation as an engine of global change in which political repression and forced labour combined to produce long term impacts on economy society and identity They investigate the varied and interconnected routes convicts took to penal sites across the world and the relationship of these convict flows to other forms of punishment unfree labour military service and indigenous incarceration They also explore the lived worlds of convicts including work culture religion and intimacy and convict experience and agency Exílio Christina Baker Kline,2023-05-15

Van Diemen's Women Joan Kavanagh,Dianne Snowden,2015-10-05 On 2 September 1845 the convict ship Tasmania left Kingstown Harbour for Van Diemen's Land with 138 female convicts and their 35 children On 3 December the ship arrived into Hobart Town While this book looks at the lives of all the women aboard it focuses on two women in particular Eliza Davis who was transported from Wicklow Gaol for life for infanticide having had her sentence commuted from death and Margaret Butler sentenced to seven years transportation for stealing potatoes in Carlow Using original records this study reveals the reality of transportation together with the legacy left by these women in Tasmania and beyond and shows that perhaps for some this Draconian punishment was in fact a life saving measure

Scottish Migration Since 1750 James C. Docherty,2016-08-11 Scottish Migration since 1750 Reasons and Results begins a fresh chapter in migration studies using new methods and unpublished sources to map the course of Scottish migration between 1750 and 1990 It explains why the Scottish population grew after 1650 why most Scots continued to be female and the underlying economic reasons for Scottish emigration after 1820 It surveys migration to England Canada United States South Africa Australia and New Zealand It explores their names marriages family structures and religions and assesses how well they really fared compared to other British migrants Far from being just another Celtic sob story this book offers a model about how the histories of other migrant groups might be reappraised

Southern Criminology Kerry Carrington,Russell Hogg,John Scott,Máximo Sozzo,Reece Walters,2018-09-18 Criminology has focused mainly on problems of crime and violence in the large population centres of the Global North to the exclusion of the global countryside peripheries and antipodes Southern criminology is an innovative new approach that seeks to correct this bias This book turns the origin stories of criminology which simply assumed a global universality on their head It draws on a range of case studies to illustrate this point tracing criminology's long fascination with dangerous masculinities back to Lombroso's theory of atavism itself based on an orientalist interpretation of men of colour from the Global South uncovering criminology's colonial legacy perhaps best exemplified by the over representation of Indigenous peoples in settler societies drawn into the criminal justice system analysing the ways in which the sociology of punishment literature has also been based on Northern theories which assume that forms of penalty roll out from the Global North to the rest of the world and making the case that the harmful effects of eco crimes and global warming are impacting more significantly on the Global South The book also explores how the colonality of gender shapes patterns of violence in the Global South Southern criminology is not a new sub discipline within criminology but rather a journey toward cognitive justice It promotes a perspective that aims to invent methods and concepts that bridge global divides and enhance the democratisation of knowledge more befitting of global criminology in the twenty first century

Eliza Hamilton Dunlop Katie Hansord, Jason Rudy, Stuart Gibson, Dr Peter Minter, Dr Graeme Skinner, Dr James Wafer, Professor Duncan Wu, 2021-05-01 Eliza Hamilton Dunlop 1796 1880 arrived in Sydney in 1838 and became almost immediately notorious for her poem The Aboriginal Mother written in response to the infamous Myall Creek massacre She published more poetry in colonial newspapers during her lifetime but for the century following her death her work was largely neglected In recent years however critical interest in Dunlop has increased in Australia and internationally and in a range of fields including literary studies settler postcolonial and imperial studies and Indigenous studies This stimulating collection of essays by leading scholars considers Dunlop's work from a range of perspectives and includes a new selection of her poetry

The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This poignant tale of love, loss, and resilience has gripped readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can triumph. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Abandoned Women Scottish Convicts Exiled Beyond The Seas : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This evocative coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, captivating readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is an exceptional and suspenseful novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
