Junaluska Susan E. Keefe, from the Junaluska Heritage Association, 2020-06-12 Junaluska is one of the oldest African American communities in western North Carolina and one of the few surviving today After Emancipation many former slaves in Watauga County became sharecroppers were allowed to clear land and to keep a portion or bought property outright all in the segregated neighborhood on the hill overlooking the town of Boone North Carolina Land and home ownership have been crucial to the survival of this community whose residents are closely interconnected as extended families and neighbors Missionized by white Krimmer Mennonites in the early twentieth century their church is one of a handful of African American Mennonite Brethren churches in the United States and it provides one of the few avenues for leadership in the local black community Susan Keefe has worked closely with members of the community in editing this book which is based on three decades of participatory research These life history narratives adapted from interviews with residents born between 1885 and 1993 offer a people's history of the black experience in the southern mountains. Their stories provide a unique glimpse into the lives of African Americans in Appalachia during the 20th century and a community determined to survive through the next.

Maine Quilts Laureen LaBar, 2021-05-01 Quilting has a rich history in Maine and America and its popularity has surged in recent years as people return to traditional handcrafts. The history of quilting in Maine is a story of community and Maine State Museum curator Laurie LaBar coaxes stories out of objects and uses those stories to enlighten, entertain, and bring new voices to Maine history. The first book of its kind, Maine Quilts: 250 Years of Comfort and Community, is the accompanying volume to a major two-year exhibit at the Maine State Museum. Stories abound and lesser-known aspects of the state's history are brought to light, but the star attractions are the quilts themselves. Ranging from surviving Colonial era quilts to present-day creations, more than 150 are presented in full color.

Making a World of Difference One Quilt at a Time Ruth McHaney Danner, 2015-10-01 Quilts exemplify precious things: comfort through the warmth they provide, community since they are often created by groups, and love given the time and effort they require. With this in mind, legions of kindhearted quilters all over the world choose to donate their labors of love to people in need. Ruth McHaney Danner has gathered fifty-four heartwarming stories of quilters who make their compassion tangible, one stitch, square, and quilt at a time. Each story introduces a quilter or group of quilters ranging from a blind woman in Texas to preschoolers in Australia. Their gifts have the power to make recipients feel cherished and supported, even though they may never meet face to face. These wonderfully inspiring stories show that every quilter who has ever wondered, "But what can I do?" can do something to reach out and help others.
