Gender and Text in the Later Middle Ages Jane Chance, 2019-11-07 A volume of the first importance to the scholarship of medieval women writers An ambitious attempt to understand what gender and text might have meant in the Middle Ages from the perspective of the woman writer and reader rather than through the more usual androcentric lens The collection brings together for the first time in one place essays about a whole range of women writers from the twelfth to the sixteenth centuries and from places as distant as Spain and Sweden as well as the more well known French and English writers Laurie Finke Kenyon College Brings together under three main categories diverse methodologies from some of the foremost scholars and interpreters of each type of material and approach Nadia Margolis University of Massachusetts Amherst The women who spoke or wrote in the margins of the Middle Ages women who were oppressed and diminished by social and religious institutions often were not literate Or if they could read they did not know how to write Transforming or subverting Western and patristic traditions associated with the clergy they also turned to Eastern and North African traditions and to popular oral theater and focused in their choice of genre on lyric romance and confessional autobiography These essays analyze their texts and reconstruct a medieval feminine aesthetic that begins a rewriting of cultural and literary history Jane Chance is professor of English at Rice University She has written or edited 13 books on Old and Middle English literature mythology medieval women and modern medievalism including Medieval Mythography From Roman North Africa to the School of Chartres A.D. 433-1177 UPF 1994 Woman as Hero in Old English Literature the Mythographic Art Classical Fable and the Rise of the Vernacular in Early France and England UPF 1990 and Christine de Pizan The Letter of Othea to Hector Translated with Introduction and Interpretive Essay She is the editor of the Focus Library of Medieval Women

Small Arms Survey 2014 Small Arms Survey, Geneva, 2014-07-03 This volume highlights emerging trends and concerns regarding armed violence and small arms proliferation along with related policies and programming Scrutiny of arms export controls (2011) Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee, 2011-04-05 This is the first joint report on arms export controls since the present Government took office in May 2010 As in previous years the report reviews the Government's policy on arms exports its administration and enforcement and the adequacy or otherwise of current legislation This year the Committees have paid particular attention to the Government's policy of intensifying the promotion of arms exports The policy has come under scrutiny following the uprisings and demonstrations in recent weeks in North Africa and the wider Middle East and the armed response made to them Since January 2011 the Government has been vigorously backpedalling on a number of arms export licence approvals to authoritarian regimes across the region The MPs conclude that both the present Government and its predecessor misjudged the risk that arms approved for export to certain authoritarian countries in North Africa and the Middle East might be used for internal repression The Committees welcome the revocation of a number of arms export licences to Bahrain Egypt Libya and Tunisia and recommend that the Government extends immediately its review of UK arms export licences for countries in North Africa and the wider Middle East to authoritarian regimes worldwide The Government should also set out how it intends to reconcile the potential conflict of interest between increased emphasis on promoting arms exports with the staunch upholding of human rights Text, Translation, Theology Bertil Albrektson, 2016-04-01 Text translation theology the three nouns in the title indicate the main fields of Old Testament study which are covered in this collection of essays Text refers both to the history of biblical texts and to problems of textual criticism Translation of the Hebrew Bible as a philological task is a central subject in several essays Theology does not define what the essays are but what some of them are about religious ideologies are objects of enquiry Bertil Albrektson gathers together a selection of his essays some of which have become classics which were written on separate occasions and published in different sometimes rather remote places They cover more than four decades of research and for the first time they are now brought together in this accessible volume Bertil Albrektson is a Swedish Old Testament scholar of international repute awarded the Burkitt Medal for Biblical Studies by The British Academy in 2003 His writing was characterized by the late Professor P R Ackroyd of King's College London as a model of learning clarity and dry humour This volume offers a unique resource to current scholars of biblical studies
