A Cannibal In Manhattan:

A Cannibal in Manhattan Tama Janowitz, 2002 Mgungu Yabba Mgungu is living happily on the South Sea Island of New Burnt Norton with his three wives one hundred pigs and assorted children the last remaining members of the tribe of the Lesser Pimbas Into this uncivilised land comes Maria Fishburn strange and beautiful heiress who decides to marry Mgungu and drag him back to New York City From his first encounter with airline food and rock star Kent Gable who declares he was recently abducted by aliens Mgungu is plunged into a world much more predatory than anything in the South Seas Soon Mgungu is the toast of all Manhattan meeting Parker Junius unctuous curator of the Museum of Primitive Arts talking philosophy with Sophie Tuckerman deli owner and meeting the illustrious Joey of pizza parlour fame It is swathed in a huge fur coat and with his new gold pen through his nose that Mgungu finally marries Maria But then he falls in with a motley crew who come to threaten them both

A Cannibal in Manhattan Tama Janowitz, 1988 Cannibal in Manhattan Tama Janowitz, 1987-09-01 Janowitz charts Mgungu Yabba Mgungu's wild adventures as fiancée to strange Manhattan heiress Maria Fishburn from high jinx to low life in the most dangerous and formidable jungle ever navigated by an innocent cannibal 24 black and white illustrations A Cannibal in Manhattan Tama Janowitz, 2002 Rich and hilarious adventure in the most formidable jungle now to modern man Cannibal Fictions Jeff Berglund, 2006 Objects of fear and fascination cannibals have long signified an elemental otherness an existence outside the bounds of normalcy In the American imagination the figure of the cannibal has evolved tellingly over time as Jeff Berglund shows in this study encompassing a strikingly eclectic collection of cultural literary and cinematic texts Cannibal Fictions brings together two discrete periods in U S history the years between the Civil War and World War I the high water mark in America's imperial presence and the post Vietnam era when the nation was beginning to seriously question its own global agenda Berglund shows how P T Barnum in a traveling exhibit featuring so called Fiji cannibals served up an alien other for popular consumption while Edgar Rice Burroughs in his Tarzan of the Apes series tapped into similar anxieties about the eruption of foreign elements into a homogeneous culture Turning to the last decades of the twentieth century Berglund considers how treatments of cannibalism variously perpetuated or subverted racist sexist and homophobic ideologies rooted in earlier times Fannie Flagg's novel Fried Green Tomatoes invokes cannibalism to new effect offering an explicit critique of racial gender and sexual politics an element to a large extent suppressed in the movie adaptation Recurring motifs in contemporary Native American writing suggest how Western expansion has cannibalistically laid the seeds of its own destruction And James Dobson's recent efforts to link the pro life agenda to allegations of cannibalism in China testify still further to the currency and pervasiveness of this powerful trope By highlighting practices that preclude the many from becoming one these representations of cannibalism Berglund argues call into question the comforting national narrative of e pluribus unum Our Cannibals, Ourselves Priscilla L. Walton, 2010-10-01 Why does Western culture remain fascinated with and saturated by cannibalism Moving from the idea of the dangerous Other Priscilla L Walton's Our Cannibals Ourselves shows us how modern day cannibalism has been recaptured as in the vampire story resurrected into the human blood stream and mutated into the theory of germs through AIDS Ebola and the like At the same time it has expanded to encompass the workings of entire economic systems such as in consumer cannibalism Our Cannibals Ourselves is an interdisciplinary study of cannibalism in contemporary culture It demonstrates how what we take for today's ordinary culture is imaginatively and historically rooted in very powerful processes of the encounter between our own and different often threatening cultures from around the world Walton shows that the taboo on cannibalism is heavily reinforced only partly out of fear of cannibals themselves instead cannibalism is evoked in order to use fear for other purposes including the sale of fear entertainment Ranging from literature to popular journalism film television and discourses on disease Our Cannibals Ourselves provides an all encompassing insightful meditation on what happens to popular culture when it goes global

Cannibal Fictions in U.S. Popular Culture and Literature Jeffrey Duane Berglund, 1996 The Male Cross-Dresser Support Group Tama Janowitz, 1994 In this New York Times Notable Book of the Year the author of A Cannibal in Manhattan offers readers a hilarious romp through the curiosities of motherhood sexual identity and family values in the 1990s A little boy follows a single woman home from a pizza parlour and works his way into her heart Lord Gnome's Literary Companion Francis Wheen, 1994 His review has got to be in by mid day tomorrow at about 9 pm his mind will grow relatively clear and until the small hours he will sit skipping expertly through one book after another and laying each one down with the comment God what tripe Then suddenly he will snap into it All the stale old phrases a book that no one should miss something memorable on every page jump into their places like iron filings obeying the magnet Thus did George Orwell writing forty years ago in Confessions of a Book Reviewer describe the labours of a typical literary hack Precious little has changed over the intervening decades the servility of the satirical magazine Private Eye Lord Gnome's Literary Companion assembles in

The Sign of the Cannibal Geoffrey Sanborn, 1998 By exploring cannibalism in the work of Herman Melville, Sanborn argues that Melville produced a postcolonial perspective even as nations were building colonial empires. White on Black Jan Nederveen Pieterse, 1992-01-01 White on Black is a compelling visual history of the development of European and American stereotypes of black people over the last two hundred years. Its purpose is to show the pervasiveness of prejudice against blacks throughout the western world as expressed in stock-in-trade racist imagery and caricature. Reproducing a wide range of illustrations from engravings and lithographs to advertisements, candy wrappings, biscuit tins, dolls, posters and comic strips, the book challenges the hidden assumptions of even those who view themselves as unprejudiced. Jan Nederveen Pieterse sets Western images of Africa and blacks in a chronological framework including representations from medieval times from the colonial period with its explorers, settlers and missionaries from the era of slavery and abolition and from the multicultural societies of the present day. Pieterse shows that blacks have been routinely depicted throughout the West as servants, entertainers and athletes and that particular countries have developed their own comforting black stereotypes about blacks: Sambo and Uncle Tom in the United States, Golliwog in Britain, Bamboula in France and Black Peter in the Netherlands. Looking at conventional portrayals of blacks in the nursery, in sexual arenas and in commerce and advertising, Pieterse analyzes the conceptual roots of the stereotypes about them. The images that he presents have a direct and dramatic impact and they raise questions about the expression of power within popular culture and the force of caricature, humor and parody as instruments of oppression. The New Yorker Harold Wallace Ross, William Shawn, Tina Brown, David
