Children, Deafness, and Deaf Cultures in Popular Media John Stephens, Vivian Yenika-Agbaw, 2022-12-28 Contributions by Cynthia Neese Bailes Nina Batt Lijun Bi H l ne Charderon Stuart Ching Helene Ehriander Xiangshu Fang Sara Kersten Parish Helen Kilpatrick Jessica Kirkness Sung Ae Lee Jann Pataray Ching Angela Schill Josh Simpson John Stephens Corinne Walsh Nerida Wayland and Vivian Yenika Agbaw Children Deafness and Deaf Cultures in Popular Media examines how creative works have depicted what it means to be a deaf or hard of hearing child in the modern world In this collection of critical essays scholars discuss works that cover wide ranging subjects and themes growing up deaf in a hearing world stigmas associated with deafness rival modes of communication friendship and discrimination intergenerational tensions between hearing and nonhearing family members and the complications of establishing self identity in increasingly complex societies Contributors explore most of the major genres of children s literature and film including realistic fiction particularly young adult novels as well as works that make deft use of humor and parody Further scholars consider the expressive power of multimodal forms such as graphic novel and film to depict experience from the perspective of children Representation of the point of view of child characters is central to this body of work and to the intersections of deafness with discourses of diversity and social justice The child point of view supports a subtle advocacy of a wider understanding of the multiple ways of being D deaf and the capacity of D deaf children to give meaning to their unique experiences especially as they find themselves moving between hearing and Deaf communities These essays will alert scholars of children s literature as well as the reading public to the many representations of deafness that like deafness itself pervade all cultures and are not limited to specific racial or sociocultural groups

Teaching Evidence-Based Writing: Fiction Leslie Blauman, 2016-09-19 One in a million Yes that s how rare it is to have so many write about reading strategies so beautifully put to use Each year Leslie Blauman guides her students to become highly skilled at supporting their thinking about texts and in Evidence Based Writing Fiction she shares her win win process Leslie combed the ELA standards and all her favorite books and built a lesson structure you can use in two ways with an entire text or with just the excerpts she s included in the book Addressing Evidence Character Theme Point of View Visuals Words and Structure each section includes Lessons you can use as teacher demonstrations or for guided practice with Best the Test tips on how to authentically teach the skills that show up on exams with the texts you teach Prompt Pages serve as handy references giving students the key questions to ask themselves as they read any text and consider how an author s meaning and structure combine Excerpts to Write About Pages feature carefully selected passages from novels short stories and picture books you already know and love and questions that require students to discover a text s literal and deeper meanings Write About Reading Templates scaffold students to think about a text efficiently by focusing on its critical literary elements or text structure demands and help them rehearse for more extensive responses Writing Tasks invite students to transform their notes into a more developed paragraph or essay with sufficiently challenging tasks geared for grades 6-8. And best of all your students gain a confidence in responding to complex texts and ideas that will serve them well in school on tests and in any situation when they are asked "What are you basing that on? Show me how you know."

Reading the Visual Frank Serafini, 2013-11-08 Today's teachers need up-to-the-minute information to help their students make sense of the multimodal texts they encounter daily in and out of school. Reading the Visual is an essential introduction that focuses on what teachers should know about multimodal literacy and how to teach it. This engaging book provides theoretical, curricular, and pedagogical frameworks for teaching a wide range of visual and multimodal texts including historical fiction, picture books, advertisements, websites, comics, graphic novels, news reports, and film. Each unit of study presented contains suggestions for selecting cornerstone texts and visual images and launching the unit, as well as lesson plans, text sets, and analysis guides. These units are designed to be readily adapted to fit the needs of a variety of settings and grade levels.

Book Features: An accessible introduction to visual literacy and multimodality; Classroom strategies and demonstrations for analyzing and interpreting multimodal texts; Hands-on examples of units of study for ten types of multimodal texts; Resources for developing and adapting units including suggested texts, analysis guides, and learning objectives.

Frank Serafini gets it. He knows that language and literacy were our original multimodal forms. He knows that today they are as crucial as they have ever been, but that they comport with a great many new relatives which are daily widening and transforming what we mean and how we mean it.

From the Foreword by James Paul Gee, Mary Lou Fulton Presidential Professor of Literacy Studies, Arizona State University: Reading the Visual positions the analysis of visual images and multimodal ensembles as essential to language arts and literacy learning. Serafini's book contributes important scholarship in understanding the theories behind this analysis and the significance of the visual in the many texts we encounter in and out of school settings.

Peggy Albers, Georgia State University: Reading the Visual is based on wide scholarship; it brings that to a point of profound insight and of intense practicality. Those taking first steps into the area will find a path smoothed by a seductively simple style; those there already are offered constant insight and challenge. It is a book that will be valued by both kinds of reader.

Gunther Kress, Professor of Semiotics and Education, Institute of Education, University of London: Frank Serafini is an author, illustrator, photographer, educator, musician, and an associate professor of Literacy Education and Children's Literature at Arizona State University. Fractures and Disruptions in Children's Literature Maria Teresa Cortez, Sandie Mourão, Ana Margarida Ramos, 2017-11-06 In March 2015 the eleventh edition of The Child and the Book Conference was organized at the University of Aveiro in Portugal The conference was related to the theme of fracture and disruption in children s and young adult literature This publication provides not only a synthesis of the main reflections but also a starting point for understanding the issues of fracture and disruption within children s and young adult literature The volume gathers texts from consolidated figures within the field of research in Children s Literature as well as contributions from junior researchers creating bridges and dialogue between both generations and critical and theoretical approaches It includes chapters on violence war sexuality and politics discussion around formal stylistic perspectives analysis of fringe works and hybrid literary forms as well as the issue of audience and the crossover universe Special reference should be given to the inclusion of contributions from lesser known countries and literatures such as Brazil Italy Norway Poland and Portugal The volume will be of interest to children s literature specialists graduate and post graduate students librarians and mediators of reading

Teaching with Children's Literature Margaret Vaughn, Dixie D. Massey, 2021-09-28 Perhaps no factor has a greater influence on children s literacy learning than exposure to engaging authentic culturally relevant texts

This concise practitioner resource and course text helps K-8 teachers make informed choices about using children's literature in their classrooms from selecting high quality texts to planning instruction and promoting independent reading. The authors present relevant theories such as reader response and culturally responsive pedagogy and show how to apply them in practice. Key topics include teaching narrative and expository texts tapping into students' individual interests and conducting text-based writing activities and discussions. Every chapter features case examples, reflection questions, and learning activities for teachers. Appendices list exemplary children's literature.

Contemporary Issues in Australian Literacy Teaching

Jenny Johnston, 2013. The second edition book covers a range of topics including how literacy and English are linked to early childhood and to middle school education, special needs education, teaching literacy to Indigenous students, bilingualism and languages education, critical literacies and multi-literacies, literacy assessment, how to engage parents in their child's literacy, and how quality literature can be used to support and enhance student's literacy development. The intended audience for this text is pre-service teachers working and studying in their early childhood and primary undergraduate degrees as well as beginning teachers who are keen to improve their literacy teaching skills.

Pivotal Research in Early Literacy Christina M. Cassano, Susan M. Dougherty, 2018-07-19. This reader-friendly text examines the key foundational studies in early literacy. It addresses such essential questions as how research informs current practices and where the field still needs to go to provide the best learning opportunities for all children. Each chapter describes the methods and findings of one to five seminal studies, critically assesses their long-term impact on practice and policy, and offers takeaways for the classroom. Leading authorities including several authors of the original pivotal studies cover 12 essential aspects of language development, literacy development, and home and community literacy experiences in PreK-2.

The Courage to Imagine Roni Natov, 2019-05-30. The act of imagining lies at the very heart of children's engagements with literature and with the plots and characters they encounter in their favorite stories. The Courage to Imagine is a landmark new study of that fundamental act of imagining. Roni Natov focuses on the ways in which children's imaginative engagement with the child-hero figure can open them up to other people's experiences, developing empathy across lines of race, gender, and sexuality as well as helping them to confront and handle traumatic experience safely. Drawing on a wide range of theoretical approaches from the psychological to the cultural and reading a multicultural spectrum of authors including works by Maya Angelou, Louise Erdrich, Neil Gaiman, and Brian Selznick, this is a groundbreaking examination of the nature of imagining for children and re-imagining for the adult writer and illustrator.

Millicent Simmonds, Actor and Activist Rachel Smoka-Richardson, 2021-12-23. Sustaining Cultural and Disability Identities in the Literacy Classroom, K-6 Amy Tondreau, Laurie Rabinowitz, 2024-10-31.
