Thinking Politically about HIV Kent Buse, Dennis Altman, 2016-04-08 AIDS has a unique political history As fears grew of a global pandemic on the scale of AIDS in sub Saharan Africa AIDS was briefly treated as an issue of high politics in the international arena and generated significant resources for country programmes That initial commitment is now declining and if AIDS is to maintain its visibility and contribution to global solidarity human rights and dignity its politics will have to evolve to reflect the profound geo political economic and social transformations underway today This volume brings together leading scholars from a variety of disciplines who work at the intersection of politics and HIV They reflect on the lessons learned from the past thirty years of the politics of AIDS and how political science writ large can further contribute to the understanding and practice of political mobilization around AIDS Through case studies and analysis new insights into identity politics and social movements in countries as diverse as Brazil Switzerland Vietnam and Zambia are offered alongside new approaches to understanding the determinants and incentives which generate political will and commitment This book was published as a special issue of Contemporary Politics

AIDS and Masculinity in the African City Robert Wyrod, 2016-07-05 AIDS has been a devastating plague in much of Sub Saharan Africa yet the long term implications for gender and sexuality are just emerging This book examines how AIDS has altered the ways masculinity is lived in Uganda a country known as Africa's great AIDS success story Based on extensive ethnographic research in an urban slum community called Bwaise this book reveals the persistence of masculine privilege in the age of AIDS and the implications such privilege has for men's and women's health and wellbeing in Uganda and beyond

The Political Economy of HIV in Africa Deborah Johnston, Kevin Deane, Matteo Rizzo, 2018-10-18 Biomedical revolutions seem to have radically altered the environment for HIV transmission anti retrovirals ARVs and drugs to reduce mother to child transmission promise to cut HIV transmission rates as does male medical circumcision However the hopeful messages of UNAIDS are tempered with warning about expenditure shortfalls and calls for funding Contributions to this book remind us that along with the external financial constraints there have been new fractures in state power and in the organisation of health systems More than this the book fundamentally calls into question whether biomedical interventions can change the social roots of this disease As well as considering new policy approaches the book reasserts a long standing political economy approach to HIV and to adapt it to reflect new competing theoretical approaches The chapters attempt to connect the debates about HIV AIDS to larger discussions about globalisation class differentiation inequity and uneven development in African countries This book was originally published as a special issue of Review of African Political Economy
