Safety precautions when driving

Seatbelt and SRS airbag

 WARNING

- All persons in the vehicle should buckle their seatbelts (SRS) when the vehicle starts to move. Otherwise, the possibility of serious injury becomes greater in the event of a sudden stop or accident.
- To obtain maximum protection in the event of an accident, the driver and all passengers in the vehicle should always wear seatbelts when the vehicle is moving. The SRS (Supplemental Restraint System) airbag does not do this with the seat belt fasten available. In combination with the seatbelts, it offers the best combined protection in case of a serious accident.

Not wearing a seatbelt increases the chance of serious injury or death in a crash event when the vehicle has the SRS airbag.

- The SRS airbag deploys with considerable speed and force. Occupants who are not in proper position when the SRS airbag deploys could suffer very serious injuries. Because the SRS airbag needs enough space for deployment, the driver should always sit upright and well back in the seat as far from the steering wheel as practical while still maintaining full vehicle control and the front passenger should move the seat as far back as possible and sit upright and well back in the seat.

For instructions and precautions, consult the following sections:

- For the seatbelt system, refer to "Seat belt" *11.10.
- For the SRS airbag system, refer to "SRS airbag (Supplemental Restraint System) airbag" *11.11.

Child safety

 WARNING

- Never hold a child on your lap or in your arms while the vehicle is moving. The passenger cannot protect the child from injury in a collision, because the child will be caught between the passenger and objects inside the vehicle.
- While riding in the vehicle, in front and behind children should always be placed in the right seat in an infant or child restraint system which is appropriate for the child's age, height and weight. If a child is too big for a child restraint system, the child should sit in the SEAT seat and be restrained using the seatbelts. According to accident statistics, children are safer when properly restrained in the rear seating position than in the front seating position. Never allow a child to stand up in front or the seat.
- Put children in the SEAT seat properly restrained at all times in a child restraint device or in a car seat. The SRS airbag deploys

- with considerable speed and force and can injure or even kill children, especially if they are not restrained or improperly restrained. Because children are lighter and smaller than adults, their risk of being injured from deployment is greater.
- NEVER INSTALL A REARWARD FACING CHILD SAFETY SEAT IN THE FRONT SEAT (DRIVER OR FRONT PASSENGER SEAT) OR SEAT OF A PL. (AND THE CHILD'S HEAD TOO CLOSE TO THE SRS AIRBAG).
- Always turn the child safety locks to the "LOCK" position whenever a child rides in the rear seat. Serious injury could result if a child accidentally opened the door and fell out. Refer to "Child safety locks" *12.10.
- Always tell the passengers' windows using the lock switch when children are riding in the vehicle. Failure to follow this procedure could result in injury to a child opening the power window. Refer to "Windows" *12.12.
- Never leave unattended children, adults or animals in the vehicle.
