African Elephant Ina Felix:

African Elephant Ina Felix, 2015-12-07 African Elephant Children Book of Fun Facts Amazing Photos on Animals in Nature A Wonderful African Elephant Book for Kids aged 3-7 Communication and Conflict Jörg Becker, 2005 Papers presented at various conferences and articles some previously published Elephant Talk Ann Downer, 2017-01-01 Audisee eBooks with Audio combine professional narration and sentence highlighting for an engaging read aloud experience On a hot day in the African savannah a group of elephants searches for food While foraging they often lose sight of one another Yet at the end of the day in one coordinated movement the elephants suddenly regroup This coordinated movement and others like it has puzzled scientists and caused them to question how elephants communicate with each other Since the 1990s scientists have gathered significant data on elephant talk Biologists have determined that elephants use a complex system of communication of at least ten distinct sounds combined in many variations Researchers are now asking what do these sounds mean As scientists study the elephant sounds that humans can hear they are also identifying ways elephants communicate through nonverbal behaviors and making sounds too low for human ears Scientists have realized that elephants even receive messages by using their sensitive feet to feel vibrations in the ground All of these discoveries are helping elephant researchers better understand elephant behavior But the elephant's time as a wild animal is running out Threatened by habitat loss and illegally hunted for their ivory tusks elephants are on the brink of extinction Will understanding elephant talk be the key to saving the species Chambers's Encyclopaedia: Elephant-Gonzalvo di Cordova, 1862 The Chimpanzees of Rubondo Island Josephine Nadezda Msindai, Volker Sommer, 2022-10-05 How did a random batch of chimpanzees come to populate a small island in Tanzania where apes had never lived before Combining information gathered from fieldwork laboratory and archival research this book tells the unique story of chimpanzee babies taken from their forest homes in West Central Africa and sold to European zoos and circuses to then be shipped to Lake Victoria and set free on Rubondo Island These founder animals learnt what to eat how to build nests to breed and raise young ultimately forming a chimpanzee typical fission fusion society that today is thriving The authors compare the ecology behaviour and genetics of the Rubondo population with communities of wild chimpanzees providing exciting insights into how our closest relatives adjust to changing environments At the same time a reconstruction of the historical context of the Rubondo experiment reflects on its chequered colonial heritage and the introduction is viewed against current threats to the survival of apes in their natural habitats The book will be of interest to scholars and professionals working in primatology animal behaviour conservation biology and postcolonial studies The Animated Bestiary Paul Wells, 2008-11-28 Cartoonists and animators have given animals human characteristics for so long that audiences are now accustomed to seeing Bugs Bunny singing opera and Mickey Mouse walking his dog Pluto The Animated Bestiary critically evaluates the depiction of animals in cartoons and animation more generally Paul Wells argues that artists use animals to engage with issues that would be more difficult to address directly because of political religious or social taboos Consequently and principally through anthropomorphism animation uses animals to play out a performance of gender sex and sexuality racial and national traits and shifting identity often challenging how we think about ourselves Wells draws on a wide range of examples from the original King Kong to Nick Park's Chicken Run to Disney cartoons such as Tarzan The Jungle Book and Brother Bear to reflect on people by looking at the ways in which they respond to animals in cartoons and films

Sustainable Development in Post-Pandemic Africa Fred Olayele,Yiagadeesen Samy,2022-10-21 With both domestic and external financing expected to dry up in the wake of the COVID 19 pandemic this book argues that there is a need for fresh ideas and new strategies for achieving sustainable development in Africa In addition to triggering the most severe recession in nearly a century the COVID 19 pandemic has disrupted global value chains causing unprecedented damage to healthcare systems economies and well being hitting the world s most vulnerable people the hardest Even before the pandemic Africa was suffering from the effects of low commodity prices sluggish GDP growth high debt levels low levels of domestic savings and weak private capital inflows This book argues that now as the continent emerges from the current crisis it will be important to reconfigure current financing sources under a forward looking framework that incorporates other non traditional financing tools and mechanisms such as public private partnerships sovereign wealth funds gender lens investing new growth drivers and emerging and disruptive technologies Finally the book concludes by adopting a sectoral approach and examining the real economy impacts of new growth drivers such as agriculture value chains industrialization tourism and the blue economy Drawing on a range of original research as well as insights from practice this book will be a useful guide for Global Development and African Studies researchers as well as for policy makers investors finance specialists and global business practitioners and entrepreneurs Up and Down the Nile, Or, Young Adventurers in Africa Oliver Optic,1894

Wild Justice Marc Bekoff,Jessica Pierce,2024-05-31 A compelling case that humans are not the only species with moral intelligence based on years of research into animal behavior Discover Scientists have long counseled against interpreting animal behavior in terms of human emotions warning that such anthropomorphizing limits our ability to understand animals as they really are Yet what are we to make of a female gorilla in a German zoo who spent days mourning the death of her baby Or a wild female elephant who cared for a younger one after she was injured by a rambunctious teenage male Or a rat who refused to push a lever for food when he saw that doing so caused another rat to be shocked Aren't these clear signs that animals have recognizable emotions and moral intelligence With Wild Justice Marc Bekoff and Jessica Pierce unequivocally answer yes Marrying years of behavioral and cognitive research with compelling and moving anecdotes Bekoff and Pierce reveal that animals exhibit a broad repertoire of moral behaviors including fairness empathy trust and reciprocity Underlying these behaviors is a complex and nuanced range of emotions backed by a high degree of intelligence and surprising behavioral flexibility Animals in short are incredibly adept social beings relying on rules of conduct to navigate intricate social networks that are essential to their survival Ultimately Bekoff and Pierce draw the astonishing conclusion that there is no moral gap between humans and other species morality is an evolved trait that we unquestionably share with other social mammals Sure to be controversial Wild Justice offers not just cutting edge science but a provocative call to rethink our relationship with and our responsibilities toward our fellow animals This well thought out provocative work will give scientific and lay readers plenty of examples to rethink and open new paths of research into the lives and minds of animals
